NASHIK, OCT 6

The 19th Regional Convention will be hosted by the Hotel and Restaurant Association of Western India (HRAWI) in Nashik from Oct 7 to 9, 2022. This will be the largest congregation of professionals from the hospitality industry in the western region of India and will have former India cricketer Dilip Vengsarkar deliver the keynote address at the inaugural function.

The event will host key policymakers, government representatives, investors and industry stalwarts who will share insights and experiences through a series of business sessions planned for both the hotel and restaurant fraternity.

The event will offer an excellent opportunity for industry professionals to network with members, vendors, consultants and other professionals from the hospitality industry.

The Association has chalked out an interactive programme under the theme 'Here To Win', to celebrate the resilience of the hospitality industry through trying times. "HRAWI is hosting its 19th Regional Convention after a gap of three years. We have decided to organize it in the Wine Capital of India – Nashik. Nashik as a destination offers a lot of promise and has tremendous opportunities across the tourism landscape with its agro, cultural, adventure and religious tourism choices.

We urge everyone associated with hospitality to be part of the event and make it a grand success," said Pradeep Shetty, president, HRAWI.
