

Indian hotel owner Chalet expects revenue growth to improve as domestic demand holds up

Chalet Hotels optimistic on growth as domestic travel demand remains strong

Hospitality major expects revenue momentum to improve, supported by sustained business and leisure travel across India

Chalet Hotels Limited has expressed confidence in its growth outlook, anticipating stronger revenue performance in the coming quarters as domestic travel demand continues to remain resilient. The company expects increasing demand from both business and leisure travellers to support occupancy levels and room rates across its hotel portfolio.

The hospitality sector has witnessed sustained momentum driven by rising domestic tourism, corporate travel and a growing preference for premium hospitality experiences. Chalet Hotels believes these favourable market conditions, coupled with its strategically located assets, will contribute to improved financial performance and long-term growth.

Industry experts note that India's hospitality sector continues to benefit from strong domestic consumption, infrastructure development and increasing travel activity, positioning hotel operators for continued expansion. Chalet Hotels remains focused on enhancing guest experiences, driving operational efficiencies and capitalising on emerging opportunities within the country's evolving hospitality landscape.
