

FSSAI cancels manufacturing licences of 111 spice producers across India

The Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) has revoked the manufacturing licenses of 111 spice producers nationwide. This action comes after extensive inspections revealed significant non-compliance with safety and quality standards.

The FSSAI's rigorous inspections aimed to ensure the integrity and safety of the spices reaching consumers. The affected producers failed to meet the stringent criteria set forth by the regulatory body, leading to the cancellation of their licenses. This decisive move underscores the FSSAI's commitment to maintaining high food safety standards and protecting public health.

Consumers are advised to be vigilant and purchase spices from verified and compliant sources. The FSSAI continues its efforts to monitor and enforce food safety regulations, ensuring that only quality products are available in the market.
