

IHCL opens Taj Tadoba Resort and Spa in Maharashtra

Indian Hotels Company (IHCL) has opened Taj Tadoba Resort & Spa, Nagpur, a 35-villa luxury property located near the Tadoba-Andhari Tiger Reserve in Maharashtra. Spread across 17 acres, the resort marks another addition to IHCL's growing leisure portfolio and strengthens its presence in Central India. The property features private villas designed to complement the surrounding natural landscape, along with Machan, an all-day dining restaurant, Panorama Bar, J Wellness Circle spa, swimming pool and fitness centre.

Located near key safari gates of the Tadoba Tiger Reserve, the resort offers guests a range of experiences including guided jungle safaris, birdwatching, stargazing and sundowner experiences. It also features meeting spaces and venues for social and corporate gatherings, positioning the property to cater to both leisure and group travellers. Tadoba, Maharashtra's oldest and largest national park, is renowned for its tiger population and rich biodiversity.

Gaurav Pokhariyal, Chief Operating Officer – Full-Service Business, IHCL, said the opening brings together the region's wilderness with the warmth of Indian hospitality and strengthens IHCL's presence in Central India. Trupen Patel, Hotel Manager, Taj Tadoba Resort & Spa, Nagpur, said the resort aims to offer guests an immersive connection with the region's wilderness while creating memorable stays. The opening comes amid growing interest in wildlife tourism and the continued development of hospitality infrastructure around India's established nature destinations.
